Grazie a un approccio audace ai materiali, i tavolini Menhir diventano una composizione di colori e trame che illustrano in modo eloquente la semplicità scultorea delle forme ideate da Lodovico Acerbis e Giotto Stoppino. Connotata da un classicismo di stampo greco, la colonna del tavolo collega la monumentale base in marmo, opaca nella sua versione contemporanea, al piano del tavolo disponibile in noce tinto scuro, frassino nero e in otto laccature, creando uno straordinario connubio di forme e colori.

With a daring approach to materials, the Menhir low table becomes a composition of colors and textures that eloquently illustrate the sculptural simplicity of Lodovico Acerbis and Giotto Stoppino's inventions of new forms. With a Greek-like classicism, the table's column connects the monumental marble base, matte in its contemporary version, to a tabletop newly rendered in lacquered wood or black ash wood and dark stained walnut, creating a striking exchange between colors and elements.

- Disponibile in tre diverse altezze, il tavolino Menhir vanta un piano rotondo di dimensioni importanti, e ora si presenta anche come una consolle alta — uno dei progetti originali, oggi in produzione per la prima volta.
- Sistema di tavolini e consolle caratterizzati dalla versatilità di utilizzo e combinazione tra le varie forme, oltre a dimensioni e materiali.

- Newly conceived in three different heights, the Menhir low table vaunts a more dramatically-sized round top, and now appears as a tall console as well — a concept from the original designs today in production for the first time.
- System of tables and consoles feature versatility, combination of various shapes, sizes and materials.
